

THE PURSUIT OF AN ETHICAL LIFE

Recently, I was introduced to an idea that speaks to our time: the microwave mentality. In the same way that a microwave speeds up the process of cooking food, people with a microwave mentality want their college degrees and their career paths the same way they want their meal: fast, with a minimum amount of effort. This idea has had a profound impact on their ethical thinking.

Although the vast majority, 71%, of the teens surveyed in a Junior Achievement/Deloitte Teen Ethics Survey said they felt "fully prepared" to make ethical decisions when they embarked on their careers, a significant number, 38%, of them believed they must cheat, steal, plagiarize and even behave violently "sometimes," "often" or "always" to succeed in school.

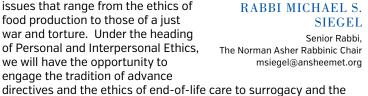

When asked why, 6 in 10 of the 38% said "a personal desire to succeed in school" motivated them to cheat: almost 4 in 10 cited "pressure from parents to succeed in school," and 15% said "everyone else does it."

A cursory read of the headlines on any given day would lead one to believe that these ethical issues are not reserved to young people alone. In fact, there is no sphere of American society today that is untouched by scandal, or untainted by ethical lapses. When we want to set our moral compasses in a very fast moving, complex society, where do we turn?

Our tradition teaches that ethics can be taught through study and example.

This year, our congregation will be offering a number of different opportunities to engage in a conversation on the ethical issues of our day, through the study of pertinent Jewish texts. We will begin with a class offered in partnership with the Jewish Theological Seminary of America entitled: "The Ethical Life: Jewish Values in an Age of Choice," starting Monday night, October 29.

The course opens with a look at the Ethics of Global Citizenship and the Public Good, where we will have the opportunity to discuss issues that range from the ethics of food production to those of a just war and torture. Under the heading of Personal and Interpersonal Ethics. we will have the opportunity to engage the tradition of advance ethics of relationships. The class will be offered through Zoom Video, and so you will be able to attend in person or via the Internet. All the sessions will be recorded so that you can simply watch a given class if you are unable to attend by looking to our website to attain the proper links. I do hope that you will take advantage of our adult education offerings this year. Along with our regular offerings of Torah study and the Hartman I-Engage Series on issues related to Israel, facilitated by multiple scholars and begins October 11th. While there is nothing microwavable or instant in The Ethical Life we will be offering a class on Great Jewish Texts, which will be class outline, feel free to bring popcorn!

THIS IS WHAT COMMUNITY IS ALL ABOUT

The High Holy Days have come to a close, the Torah has been re-wound to the beginning, and we are embarking on a new year together as a community, a kehillah. Our thanks go out to our clergy for inspiring services and uplifting music, to our professional staff for moving thousands of worshipers in and out of multiple services, and to our maintenance staff for making it all possible. A lot of hard work went into your High Holy Day experience, and we hope it was meaningful, evoked good memories, and created some new memories to carry forward.

ART FRIEDSON

President, Anshe Emet Synagogue
art.friedson@gmail.com

I used the word "kehillah" very deliberately. Rabbi Jonathan Sacks has written about three different terms that are used for community in our religious literature. The first is an edah which comes from the word eid, or witness. An edah is a group of people who have come together for a common purpose. In the torah, sometimes that is a positive purpose and sometimes it is not. The Torah uses edah when it describes the whole Israelite community preparing the Passover sacrifices in their homes on the evening before the Exodus, but it also uses the term to describe each of the different cliques that rebelled against Moses at different times in the desert.

Another term for community is tzibbor. It, too, connotes a community, but its root is the verb "to heap." A tzibbor is a loose gathering of individuals who find themselves together for a transient moment. When I was saying kaddish for my father, I would sometimes find a spontaneous minyan at an airport or at a Jewish community function of some kind. That sort of ad hoc group is best described as a tzibbor.

A kehillah combines both notions to form a meaningful, robust, purposeful community. It takes the diversity and individuality of a tzibbor and marries it with the constructive purpose of an edah. It harnesses the widely different motivations of individual members into a collective experience that enriches everyone in the process.

It was easy to see this notion come to life over the High Holy Days where we had different services with different appeals going on simultaneously. Each skewed a different way, but all provided meaningful and fully authentic Jewish prayer experiences. The same is true on a regular Shabbat, when the participants from different services converge together for kiddush lunch, becoming a kehillah, a larger community.

The individual members of Anshe Emet are unique and special. They come to Anshe Emet for a wide variety of reasons in search of many different things. But as they pursue their individual interests, they come to discover how being part of an active, vibrant, Jewish community enriches their lives. That's our secret sauce, and that's what makes Anshe Emet Synagogue a true kehillah.

THE HAZZAN'S VOICE

Here it is, the day before KOL NIDRE-5779. It has been many months since I last wrote a "love note" to you, the Anshe Emet family. So, please allow me the privilege to do that, and to first fulfill one of our traditions during the "Aseret Y'mey T'shuvah" (Ten Days of Repentance - between Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur).

We are to ask forgiveness from anyone we may have wronged, in any way, during the past year. I ask your forgiveness for anything I may have said or done.

Rosh Hashanah services were made so much more beautiful by the participation of a few musical young people who absolutely livened the spirit of the prayers and brought to it a freshness and innocence that gave me the impetus to concentrate, even more, on the words of our Mahzor, as well as the modes and moods of our Cantorial Tradition.

Shireinu and their new director, Christie Chiles Twillie, are working hard at continuing to build a synagogue community choir, following the terrific work of Hazzan Steven Berke, who recently retired from the position. I look forward to singing with them on many occasions. Their participation in Selihot this year was exemplary.

Finally, allow me the honor of thanking, on behalf of the Anshe Emet Syngaogue, the MAGNIFICENT Anshe Emet High Holy Day Choir! I do not believe we have ever had a more beautiful sound coming from the balcony on the High Holy Days. This is explained by the fact that our brilliant choir director, Bill Chin, is not only a wonderful conductor with many years of experience as part of the Chicago Symphony Chorus, but has managed to keep the majority of our great singers for MANY years, now. They get better every year; uncanny!

I wish to personally, thank, the following young people:

Nathan Appelbaum - for continuing to sing beautifully.

Aviva and Eden Berke – singing in perfect unison and sounding like angels!

Olivia Katz – yet another angelic voice with vocal experience, who undertook many solos and was wonderful in each!

Belina Mizrahi – who came onboard late in the game, but, being the first time we have sung together in public, brought tears to my eyes.

Shala Shmookler – the youngest member of our little club, has shown that she will be in the mix for years to come.

"Shiru L'Adonay Shir Chadash" – SING UNTO THE LORD A NEW SONG [Psalm 98] colors so many aspects of the Jewish tradition. Whether the song is "new" or, perhaps, the singer of the song brings on a new meaning to the same words, I pray that our tradition of the past many High Holy Days, the song and sound of our choirs and the young soloists, will remain a gift to our congregation, and all future hazzanim of Anshe Emet!

May your Sukkot be full of family and friends, the sound of children, and the song of our people!

RABBI DAVID RUSSO drusso@ansheemet.org

JUDAISM IS A NATION OF IMMIGRANTS

Our nation is a nation of immigrants. I know that I am grateful for this, as an immigrant from Canada to this great country. This statement, however, is also true about our religion. Judaism is a nation of immigrants. We learn in the series of Torah portions that we read at this time of year that our ancestor, Abraham, says, "ger vetoshav anochi imachem – that he is a stranger, a resident, amongst the Hittite people." [Genesis 23:4]. It is in our people's DNA to be the stranger – from the time of Abraham, through the time of slavery in Egypt, throughout thousands of years of exile. We know what it's like to be an immigrant, because each and every one of us has family who were, at one time, strangers, refugees, looking for a home for ourselves and our families.

In that spirit, on Sunday, October 28, from 2:00 – 4:00 p.m., Anshe Emet is hosting a community-wide Jews For Refugees Assembly. The Assembly will feature elected officials, refugee speakers, policy experts, and community leaders. It will bring together the greater Chicago Jewish community, including delegations from congregations and organizations. Together, we will demonstrate support for refugees and asylum seekers. You can register at this link: https://www.hias.org/events/chicago-jews-refugees-assembly

The Assembly is convened by HIAS in partnership with Jewish Child & Family Services of Chicago and a planning committee representing twelve Chicago area congregations: Anshe Emet Synagogue, Beth Hillel Bnai Emunah, Chicago Sinai Congregation, Congregation Hakafa, Congregation Solel, Congregation Sukkat Shalom, Jewish Reconstructionist Congregation, Mishkan Chicago, Ner Tamid Ezra Habonim Egalitarian Minyan, Oak Park Temple B'nai Abraham Zion, Temple Jeremiah, and Temple Sholom.

Please join me, as we recall our tradition's call to protect the immigrant and the stranger, and as we consider how we can support those who need our help today.

A NEW ERA OF INCLUSION

5779 marks a new era of inclusion initiatives at Anshe Emet. With the help of myriad measures new this year, we strove to ensure that each person could fully experience our High Holy Day services.

Each space was equipped with new page-turning devices, so that every page number and prayer name was available at a glance. We set out page magnifiers, hearing enhancement devices, and large-print siddurim, to meet the various needs of our congregants. We provided fidget toys to help everyone stay engaged in the way that worked best for them. We printed copies of every sermon for auditory accessibility, to ensure that every person was able to share in the words of Torah. We hired child care professionals to specifically facilitate the success and joy of our children who flourish best when given one-on-one attention.

We extend our sincerest thanks to everyone who played a role in making the High Holy Days accessible to all:

- Frank Castaneda and his team of carpenters, for crafting our new page-turning devices
- Dayna Bender, Michael Cohen, Amy Eisenstein, Sydney Esbitt, Simon Fleischmann, Karen Goodgold, Michael Goodgold, Marc Gould, Helene Greenwald, Ariana Handelman, Deborah Irwin, Larisa Kenen, Jacob Kline, Deb Moldover, Ilana Orlofsky, Tracy Portnoy, and Don Shapiro, for so diligently turning pages during services
- · Mimi Weisberg, for coordinating our wonderful volunteers
- The Kehillah Kedosha committee, chaired by Elesheva Soloff, for their commitment and vision

Anshe Emet is blessed with a vibrant and diverse community. In this new year and beyond, we will continue to work to make sure that the interests of each person are represented, and their contributions celebrated.

"MY WIFE AND I ARE EMPTY NESTERS...

...We no longer have children in Hebrew school. When we think about where we're going to spend our Jewish philanthropic dollars, we're looking to make tzedakah for the advancement of Jewish life in Chicago, especially for young families.

On Rosh Hashanah, I was especially struck by the Rabbi's remarks that there had been 680 parents and young children at the young family service on Rosh Hashanah morning. We belong and contribute to Anshe Emet because we believe that it is the leading synagogue in the Chicago area turning the hopes and visions of young Jewish families into a reality."

MITZVAH DAY FOR ANSHE EMET FAMILIES – TEACHER EDUCATION IN THE RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

Dear Friends.

We are so excited about our first Family Day, coming up on Sunday, October 28. ALL Anshe Emet families with children in JK through 8th grade - whether in religious school, day school, or just interested in getting involved- are invited to participate in our first Mitzvah Day. This day of service, organized and developed by Max Handelman, will give our families an opportunity to get out into the community and work with so many different organizations, from The Ark to Share Our Spare. You can sign up your family today at https://tinyurl.com/AESmitzvahday2018. Space is limited, and volunteer opportunities will be available on a first-come, first-served basis. If you are interested in being a Team Captain, please sign up for that spot on the registration form. We will be relying on you to help lead a friendly reflective discussion with the other families at your volunteer site. These discussions will give us all a chance to learn more about each other, build relationships, and relate our volunteer experiences to our Jewish values.

EMILY SCHOERNING, PhD

While our families are out in the community, October 28th will also serve as a day of education for our religious school teachers. Our teachers have already had two days of professional development before school began, and moving forward, we will be using Family Days to provide more professional learning opportunities to our staff. This year, our teachers are receiving more education at a higher level of professionalism than ever before, as we work to become the best community of educators we can be. We hope our learning and preparation are being felt by you and your children through their classroom experiences. If you have questions or feedback, please get in touch with me at eschoerning@ansheemet.org.

KEY OCTOBER DATES:

October 7: No Religious School

October 14: 1st Grade Parents Brunch & Learn

October 21: J2M for 6th Graders

October 28: MITZVAH DAY

Thursday Religious School flex options will begin October 14.

ANSHE EMET SISTERHOOD

OUTING TO THE TIMELINE THEATRE

On October 10, the Anshe Emet Sisterhood, together with Anshe Emet Synagogue, is hosting an outing to the Timeline Theatre to see A Shayna Maidel. We will meet as a group prior to the show to mingle and enjoy a beverage.

MORE UPCOMING EVENTS

The Rosh Chodesh Series will continue with an event on November 8. December brings our Annual Latkepalooza on December 10 and the Festival of Lights street party for the Night Ministry on December 13. And stay tuned for additional series of Women, Wine and Walking With God as well as other exciting events for the fall and winter.

HELP LEAD THE SISTERHOOD

The Sisterhood is looking for new leadership! If you are looking for a way to give back to Anshe Emet Synagogue and have a desire to engage and create community, please contact Marlene Reid, current Sisterhood President at mreiddpm@gmail.com

BOOK CLUB

The Bridge Sisterhood book group begins our fall session October 4, 2018. Although many of our members have been in the group since its inception in 2002, we welcome newcomers. We are fortunate to have Rachel Jacobsohn as our facilitator, who always brings insights into the selections. If you are interested in joining us, please contact Judy at Hgmet1@aol. com We meet from 6:30-8:30 at sites TBA at Anshe Emet.

his most evocative and poignant fictions. It is the story of Robert Grainier, a day laborer in the American West at the start of the twentieth century – an ordinary man in extraordinary times. Buffeted by the loss of his family, Grainer struggles to make sense of this strange new world. As his story unfolds, we witness both his shocking personal defeats and the radical changes that transform America in his lifetime. Suffused with the history and landscapes of the American West, this novella captures the disappearance of a distinctly American way of life.

Thursday, December 6: Less, Andrew Dean Greer (Back Bay Books, ed)

You are a failed novelist about to turn fifty. A wedding invitation arrives in the mail: your boyfriend of the past nine years is engaged to someone else. You can't say yes--it would be too awkward--and you can't say no--it would look like defeat. On your desk are a series of invitations to half-baked literary events around the world. Question: How do you arrange to skip town? Answer: You accept them all. What would possibly go wrong? Amazon.com.

NIGHT MINISTRY

We are beginning to collect items for our holiday gift giveaway for clients of the Night Ministry. Please deposit gift items in the new collection boxes at Anshe Emet. New men's and women's hats, gloves, scarves, warm socks, sweaters, etc or perfumes, lotions, and other nice gifts. The holiday party is on December 13th this year. For more information, contact Janine Landow-Esser at Janine811@gmail.com.

GIFT SHOP

The Gift Shop is open Sundays, 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m., when Religious School is in session. The Gift Shop will be having a 25% off back to school sale.

Check for upcoming notices and events at www.AnsheEmet.org; look for Sisterhood under Programs.

AWARD-WINNING MEN'S CLUB MENSCHEN/MENTION

We began the month of August with the very successful Men, Meat, and Midrash with Mintz and Milt's event on August 6, led by our own Torah scholar, Alan Mintz. I reviewed this illuminating session in our September article so I will not repeat the details here. Men's Club continued in full swing at our outing on August 8 to see the Chicago White Sox battle the New York Yankees. Although the Yankees defeated the White Sox, it was a great game and a beautiful evening. Special thanks to our own Ticket Master, Jon Norton, for making the arrangements.

As usual, I am writing in advance due to publishing requirements. September should prove to be an especially awesome month for Men's Club. I will review these programs in more detail in our article next month to do justice to what should prove to be two outstanding programs. On Sunday, September 16, Men's Club again went up the creek but with a paddle for Kayaking on the Chicago River.

On Wednesday evening, September 26, Men's Club again hosted our hugely popular and successful Steak and Shots in the Sukkah event. This was an especially great evening as our honorees this year are our four long-time, regular, dedicated Chicago Police officers who constitute the vital core of our Anshe Emet security detail, in order of seniority: Bob Balesh, Jessie Leader, Fred McAllen, and Ron Tanaka. We hope that you were able to share in the celebration and thank our honorees for their service. The profits from this event will have been donated to the charity of their choice. We also hosted an expert presentation of the latest and greatest in the world of whiskeys from our favorite expert, Monique Houston, who always comes with the best selections to share with us. Of course, there always is our outstanding full-course kosher BBQ steak dinner. Permit me to take this opportunity to extend special thanks and appreciation in advance to Larry Kosova who serves as our program chair for Steak and Shots in the Sukkah, to Gil Matar who serves as our master chef for the delectable steak BBQ portion of the event, and to Stan Dreyfuss who serves as Gil's dedicated sous chef. There is much dedicated effort that goes into making this a successful evening in so many ways. Thanks for everyone's continued support.

Do you have an axe to grind? If so, then you want to participate in the Men's Club outing to an axe throwing event. Mark your calendar for Wednesday evening, October 24, and stay tuned for registration details about this rapidly growing international sport. As you know, your Men's Club always attempts to be "cutting edge."

We hope that the High Holy Days were thoroughly enjoyable and meaningful for everyone. I wish all of our Men's Club members, families, friends and extended congregational family the very best for a healthy and happy New Year! Thanks to those who helped to make this past year so successful. Plan on making the New Year even better by renewing your Men's Club membership or joining if you have not already become a member. Start the New Year right by joining us and being a vital part of our Men's Club family. Check the box on your synagogue membership form or contact Amy Karp, our dedicated staff liaison. Remember, we are incomplete without you. I extend my personal appreciation to my fellow Men's Club Board members: Larry Kosova, Alan Mintz, Jon Norton, Gregg Pollack, Harvey Popolow, and Neil Schwartz. Together we serve as a great team and band of brothers.

Contact us with your suggestions and questions at MensClub@ AnsheEmet.org or if you would like to be more involved. Don't forget to also check our Facebook page, Anshe Emet Men's Club, for further information about upcoming programs.

Barry Balik, Men's Club President

After eighteen months of attacks on the U.S. refugee and asylum program, the number of refugees entering the country has dramatically slowed and asylum seeking families have been torn apart at our southern border. At a time of unprecedented global need, the U.S. is failing to meet a basic obligation to victims of war, terror, torture, and persecution. In this period of crisis it is essential for the Jewish community to demonstrate our support for the safety and dignity of refugees and asylum seekers. That's why a coalition of Jewish congregations and organizations from across Chicagoland have come together with HIAS to hold a community-wide Jews For Refugees Assembly.

The Assembly will feature elected officials, refugee speakers, policy experts, and community leaders. It will bring together the greater Chicago Jewish community, including delegations from congregations and organizations, in partnership with HIAS, the world's oldest, and only Jewish, refugee organization, and Jewish Child and Family Services of Chicago. Together, we will demonstrate the Jewish community's deep and broad support for refugees and our commitment to fight each and every attempt to prevent them from finding safety and welcome in our country.

Join us on Sunday, October 28 at Anshe Emet for a formal program from 2:00-3:00 p.m., followed by an information and action fair from 3:00-4:00 p.m.

THE MEMBERSHIP DIRECTORY IS FINALLY HERE!

When our secular year ends, we make promises of things we'd like to accomplish and do differently in the New Year. The same is true for many of us as we approach Rosh Hashanah. We promise ourselves that we'll play more, learn more, and relax more. Anshe Emet strives to bring programs that will help you fulfill these promises.

SUSTAINING FUND FOR THE 2018-19 YEAR OF GIVING

The entire community of Anshe Emet is grateful for your continued support! Contributions to the Sustaining Fund make it possible for Anshe Emet Synagogue to thrive as an inclusive community at the forefront of Judaism. The Sustaining Fund provides a significant portion of the synagogue's annual operating expenses and ensures no congregant is turned away due to financial need.

Thank you!

Stop, Drop and Roll; Stop the Bullying, Drop the Judgement and Roll into Prevention

As the school year is back in full swing and children freely jump into the accumulated piles of leaves; October is also a time to prepare kids for the many issues they face. As if the life of a child isn't stressed enough from parents to succeed in academics, there is also pressure from peers.

With the month of October designated as National Bullying Prevention Month, it is an ideal time to review what bullying is all about and what we can do to prevent it.

According to the National Center for Injury and Prevention and Control, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the United States Department of Education, bullying is defined as "any unwanted aggressive behavior(s) by another youth or group of youths who are not siblings or current dating partners that involves an observed or perceived power imbalance and is repeated multiple times or is highly likely to be repeated." Signs to look for to determine if a behavior is considered bullying: Is it aggressive, persistent, intentional, repeated, unwanted, and is there an imbalance of power? It is different from drama or conflict that can occur between friends. Those who are both bullied and bully others may be at more risk for negative outcomes, such as depression, self-harm or suicide. The warning signs that a child is being bullied are: nightmares, feeling worried, angry, moody, having physical complaints (headaches, stomachaches) and withdrawn from friends and activities.

It is important to have empathy and be aware of the kids that may be left out or have a difficult time fitting in or making friends; these kids may show some vulnerability that make them easy targets. Establishing rules creates a safe place and reviewing them often helps prevent problems and conveys the message that there are consequences for not following the rules. Having defined parameters provides clear understanding of what is and is not appropriate. Role modeling appropriate behaviors is highly beneficial as kids follow adults' actions much more than they follow words. Do activities with your students/children around inclusivity, respect, and embracing differences/diversity. Teach them to be a real "caring" community and to let someone know when they see someone left out, teased, or upset by someone else.

Create a place where there is physical and emotional safety that allows everyone to feel valued. Acknowledge, investigate and remember that complaints may escalate rapidly if they are not managed in a timely and appropriate manner. In order for schools, camps, youth groups and other institutions to function effectively, comprehensive policies and procedures need to be established. The rules and expectations laid out hold everyone accountable and ensure that the institution can run properly. It is helpful if staff/administration regularly review the policies to make sure they are updated and viable. Overall, policies and procedures establish expectations, keep children and staff safe and make sure children have a positive experience in their surroundings.

Anshe Emet Confidential Assistance Program designed to help members through tough financial times

If you are an Anshe Emet member experiencing financial hardship, we may be able to be of assistance to you during these difficult times. There are numerous community resources to which we can direct you, as well as some available funds here at Anshe Emet to help congregants in need.

If you are a congregant needing assistance with:

- Food
- Shelter (rent, utilities)
- Emergency medical expenses
- Jewish day school tuition
- Summer Camp fees
- Study in Israel or Jewish educational program expenses

Please contact the Assistance Program Coordinator directly at assistance@AnsheEmet.org or at 773-868-5133 for further information

Please note that all inquiries and any information exchange will be completely confidential

Look for a link to a downloadable application form at http://www.ansheemet.org/Confidential_Financial_Assistance.

celebrate with a GIFT TO THE KIDDUSH LUNCHEON FUND!

Whether you are celebrating a special occasion like a new baby a wedding engagement, anniversary, birthday or commemorating the loss of a loved one for Yahrzeit-share your life cycle events with the congregation by making a gift to the Kiddush Luncheon Fund.

SHABBAT NESHAMAH

A Reflective & Musical Shabbat Experience for all ages

6:30 PM November 9 • January 11 • March 8 • April 12

Shabbat Neshamah is an intimate service that blends traditional liturgy with guitar music and evocative readings for Shabbat. We will sit in the round, and Naomi Weiss-Weil will lead us in new, reflective melodies to familiar songs.
