A New Building to Educate New Generations of Builders

Michael S. Siegel
Senior Rabbi, The Norman Asher Rabbinic Chair
msiegel@ansheemet.org

One of my favorite Rabbinic passages offers a teaching
about education:

Rabbi Elazar said that Rabbi Hanina said:
"Torah scholars increase peace in the world, as it is said: 'And your children [baniyich] shall be taught of the Lord, and great shall be the peace of your children.'
(Isaiah 54:13) Do not read 'your children'
[banayich], but 'your builders' [bonayich]."

- Talmud Brakhot 64a

The Rabbis make a word play based upon the similarities of [banayich], Hebrew of 'your children', and [bonayich] which means 'your builders.' In this simple yet profound way, our tradition reminds us that the ultimate goal of education is for people to take their knowledge and become inspired builders of a community.

As the Torah makes so clear, knowledge is at its best when it serves the needs of others. Every generation is tasked with building a better world. Understanding how to apply the lessons of the past to the present, learning to think creatively and cooperatively, and developing leadership skills for the future are all part of the educational process.

Since 1946, the Bernard Zell Anshe Emet Day School has been working to do just that with remarkable success. Our congregation takes great pride in the accomplishments of the school and is committed to continue building on our dynamic and symbiotic relationship.

This month, we have the opportunity to celebrate the ultimate fulfillment of these ancient words. Bernard Zell will be having the grand opening of a remarkable new facility. This state-of-the-art building contains a chapel, a gym that converts to theatre space, an exceptional science lab, and an open learning area that reflects the present and future of educational principles.

Walking between the school buildings of our community, we can see the evolution in learning spaces most dramatically. We are also thrilled that the synagogue will be able to make use of some these new spaces for our religious school, entertainment and for prayer as well.

By the time you read this, we will have (on October 27) dedicated this new building based on old principles. We are, indeed, building a better future for our children and our future builders.

“Jewish War Veterans Post To Be Organized At Anshe Emet...”

The Men's Club is happy to announce that under its auspices a Jewish War Veteran Post will be organized at Anshe Emet. The first meeting will be held on Monday, November 19, at 8:30pm at the synagogue, and all members, men and women, who have served in the armed forces of the United States, are extended a cordial invitation. Please pass this information along to members of your family and friends who are veterans. VETERANS ONLY WILL BE ADMITTED.

*Printed in the November 16, 1945
Anshe Emet Bulletin.*

This year, in honor of Veterans Day, the Anshe Emet Men's Club will be celebrating the men and women who have served in the Armed Forces with their Tables Turned on Them: Jews Guarding Nazi POWs in the United States program, featuring author Dr. Michael J. Greenberg who will offer an eloquent tribute to the GIs of World War II.

Member Highlights

“We love the sense of kehillah, or community, Anshe Emet has given us at each stage of our lives, starting as newlyweds, to welcoming babies, through Religious School, and on spiritually enhancing trips to Israel and Morocco. The clergy and staff are a second family, always there for us, in happy and difficult times, uplifting, caring and loving.”

— Penny & Seymour Turner

“The First Friday Family service and dinner every month has been a wonderful experience for my wife and I, along with our two young boys. The service provides a joyful and engaging introduction to Judaism for my kids. Anshe Emet offers me an environment where I can bond with my boys, while spending quality time together, engaging in Jewish practice.”

— Dr. Elisha Waldman

We'll Keep the Lights on For You

Arthur Friedson
President, Anshe Emet Synagogue
art.friedson@gmail.com

Dear Friends,

It has been such a treat to spend the Jewish holidays with so many of you. I have to admit that while I don't miss washing all the pots and pans that come with big yom tov meals, I certainly miss all the beautiful music, the inspiring teaching, and most of all, the handshakes, hugs, kisses, Shana Tova's and Chag Sameach's that come with the holidays. We have a very special community filled with very special people, and that's the heart of synagogue life that we value so dearly.

I need to thank every single member of the staff and clergy of Anshe Emet for the heroic effort they put forth not just to move thousands of people in and out of multiple services, but for providing exceptionally beautiful and meaningful services.

We have a very special community filled with very special people

I also want to thank the professionals in our security force who do such a diligent job of keeping us safe every time we attend a service or event at Anshe Emet at the holidays and throughout the year. In these disquieting times, you should always feel safe in our congregational home.

As the days get shorter and the temperatures fall, I hope you know that Anshe Emet Synagogue is the place to go to feel the warmth of your friends, your spirit, your tradition and your prayers. We'll keep the lights on for you, beckoning you to be part of an enriching, satisfying Jewish experience.

Tables Turned on Them: Jews Guarding Nazi POWs in the United States

Tuesday, November 12 • 6:30PM

Dr. Michael J. Greenberg offers an eloquent tribute to Jewish GIs who displayed a sense of justice, humility, and perseverance during their tours of duty. They guarded Nazi POWs in the U.S. despite the dangers of going into POW compounds unarmed and subjected to the Nazis anti-Semitism. Greenberg also touches on how these experiences affected the GI's post-war lives.

Officers and members of the Jewish War Veterans of the USA will be honored, as well as our own congregation's veterans.

Religious School

Emily Schoerning, PhD
The Grodzin Director of Educational Innovation
eschoerning@ansheemet.org

Dear Friends,

Religious School has been off to a sweet start in this new year. During the chagim we were really able to grow into the LaAtid vision in a new way. We engaged meaningfully as a school in the ritual of Tashlich, worked to build emotional and relationship skills for Yom Kippur, and joyfully celebrated Sukkot. It is wonderful to see all of our students not just learning about Jewish values and actions, but actually putting that learning into practice.

We look forward to another opportunity to live our learning and our values this November, as we engage in our second annual Mitzvah Day!

On November 17, religious school will be off-site. Instead of learning in the classroom, students and their families will provide service by volunteering in so many parts of our community. Last year, hundreds of Anshe Emet children and families participated in this community volunteer event. This year, we're excited to include new volunteer sites and even more families in this opportunity to help our children connect their learning to meaningful acts.

Thank you for your help!
